

Now

With F.M.L.

We live in an eclectic world. Eclectic means "selecting from different systems or sources". The November elections show it. Women's fashions show it.

The composition of our people shows it. Changing attitudes in social, religious and economic areas show it.

The Greek and Judaic worlds reside in Christianity, out of the Middle East, which came of age among the Romans.

Our people are from every race, nationality, section of the earth. Our states are influenced by Eskimos in Alaska, Polynesians in Hawaii, Japanese and Chinese in California, English and French in New England, Dutch, Jewish, Italian and Irish in New York, Polish, Hungarian, German in Chicago, Indians in Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico, Mexican in Texas, Negro and Cajon in Louisiana, ad infinitum. All are American.

NOW-NOW-NOW

Our Constitution allows freedom to believe or not to believe, encourages responsibility, promotes individualism, protects groups, federates states and protects states rights, frees slaves, prohibits drink and makes it wet, ad infinitum.

We are good and evil congregated, one group's good something of another's evil, or vice versa, a systematized, eclectic (there's that word again) gathering of saints, sinners and the multitude in between.

We listen to cries of alarm over economics, law and order, inflation and, in effect, thumb noses at political candidates by going Democratic at state level and admiring in the Senate, even introducing a couple of independents in shifting tides.

We like traditions better than we thought, but some of these we acknowledge the kids are right about: the times are different. The young generation may have the responsibilities sooner than the older generation, and the older ones may well be happy to unload them.

We are sophisticating in curiously simplistic ways: we learn there is no evil in wearing different styles of clothes and there is integrity in trying to reach one's own conclusions, despite the pressures of peers to go this way and that.

We acknowledge women's lib has merit, if its advocates recognize what they lose in what they gain. We acknowledge that reform is important in people like Ralph Nader, who systematically proves his point. We reject rebellion in the streets and long hair, until it becomes fashionable. Crew cuts 40 years ago were suspect.

Youngsters like pinstripe suits, wide lapels double breasted until somebody might say pinstripes were in style a generation ago. Middle-agers reject hippy colors and loose clothes, but wear wide ties, sideburns and fringed leather jackets.

We are eclectic; let's face it. And it isn't so bad.

We are borrowing and testing, improvising and refining, streamlining and applying ingenuity. We are Yankee-Rebel-hip-squares growing up.

County Loses 'Head Start' OEO Program

Head Start, a program to prepare pre-school children for classroom work, failed to receive OEO funding this year, apparently because the county does not have an OEO Community Action program. It is the second OEO program cut in the county this year.

D. R. Dodson, superintendent of Cameron schools and administrator of the program last year, said Cameron had received funds for Head Start in the past through a Community Action program at Georgetown. Last summer the local school had four units of Head Start. This year Dodson said funding was cut to one unit, not enough to merit continuing the program.

Earlier, Milam County lost the Emergency Food program which provided supplemental food and health care through the Surplus Commodities office. County Judge O. B. Harden said this was discontinued as of December 1 because the county was not participating in a Community Action program.

Judge Harden said individuals in the county had looked into the possibilities of joining with the Robertson County Community Action group last year in connection with opening a Day Care Center here. Robertson County Community Action officials were not able to extend their program to Milam County at that time.

Judge Harden said most of the Community Action groups were started in 1964 and 1965 and no new groups were being approved by OEO at this time.

Head Start programs had been operated in Gause, Branchville and Cameron in recent years. The Branchville and Gause units were incorporated into the Cameron schools last year.

Over 60 years ago, the church was finished, very proud of its coat of paint, and stayed that way until 1922.

Rarely in those days did members attend other churches, not from lack of interest, but because of the distance and mode of travel. The Elder came to Buckholts by train, and was met by a member in a buggy. He stayed two days, preached several times, held conference, and too time to talk to the people. The early pastors were spiritual men, most of whom had not finished what is now grade school.

The land for the church, and for the adjoining cemetery was donated by Uncle Red Graham, as he was called by everyone.

Friendship Church To See 66th Thanksgiving

This year will mark the 66th observance of a special Thanksgiving tradition in the community of Friendship. At 11 a.m. Thanksgiving Day, services will be held in the Methodist Church followed by dinner on the grounds.

Church members who have gone out from Friendship, their children, grandchildren, and their great grandchildren, come from all over the country for the special day.

What calls them back? Mrs. Ross McQuary, who has written a history of the church, says they come "for the memories and atmosphere of friendship and love that has always existed in the Friendship Methodist Church."

Those memories go back 100 years, when the church began a log school house in a small community known as Friendship. Mrs. McQuary tells the story:

Friendship was thinly settled by God-fearing pioneers, who desired a place to worship. So the log school house, on a road barely larger than a cow trail was chosen. It was about five miles from Davilla.

Circuit riders and itinerant preachers came, riding many miles in cold and heat, rain and dust, to bring spiritual food for the pioneers, who would come many miles -- walking, on horse back or wagon, and some even by the oxen they were working.

When more settlers came in, and more members were added, they felt secure enough to build their first church. It wasn't completed, but it did have an "amen" corner, so when the preacher said something unusually good, the older men who sat in the corner would say "amen!"

Over 60 years ago, the church was finished, very proud of its coat of paint, and stayed that way until 1922.

Deer Plentiful In South Milam

South Milam County was active with hunters again this weekend and deer were reported to be plentiful in the area around Milano. Dale Moore, Game Warden, said most of the hunters were from out-of-county, particularly from Houston.

Moore said the largest kill he had checked last week was an 8 point buck that dressed at about 110 pounds. It was taken east of Milano. He said the cool weather favored hunters, but high winds on the opening weekend had kept the deer undercover.

YHS Honor Society Joins National Effort

By John Ben Sutter

Over 1,500 American men are missing in Southeast Asia. The families of these men are in distress. Would you be willing to help?

The C. H. Yoe High School Chapter of the National Honor Society has taken as a project to inform people in Cameron about the inhumane treatment of POW's. Members of the organization will be speaking about this worthy project to local clubs and organizations.

Many Americans do not realize that the North Vietnamese government is very "opinion-conscious" and that it wants the rest of the world to have a favorable opinion of it.

The North Vietnamese believe that a POW is a dishonored person, not worthy of recognition. They cannot believe that the U. S. is concerned about the fate and inhumane treatment of "only 1,500 men." We can do much to convince the North Vietnamese government that we do care about these men by simply writing a letter to Mr. Xuan Thuy at the North Vietnamese Embassy in Paris, France.

The wives, children and parents of missing men do not even know if they are alive or dead since the government of North Vietnam has never officially released a complete list of men it holds prisoner.

The Geneva Convention, which North Vietnam signed, clearly specifies that all prisoners will be completely identified, that all sick and injured prisoners will be immediately released, that POW camps will be impartially inspected, and that POW's should be allowed to write not less than six cards and letters per month. The North Vietnamese refuse to honor any of these provisions.

You can help prove to the North Vietnamese that any American's well being is the concern of all of us by spending a few minutes of your time to write a letter demanding that they:

1. Identify all POW's they hold.
2. Release all sick and injured POW's to a neutral power.
3. Allow impartial inspections of POW facilities.
4. Allow free exchange of mail by POW's and members of their families.

Your letter should be addressed on the inside to:

Mr. Xuan Thuy
Delegation of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam
Paris, France
Address your envelope to:
Mrs. J. A. Singleton (POW/MIA/XUAN THUY)
State Coordinator
1110 Joy Meadow Dr.
Dallas, Texas 75218

By Mailing your letter to this address, only a 6¢ stamp is required. Your letter will be one of a hoped-for ton to be sent to the North Vietnam Embassy in Paris through the efforts of "United We Stand" and the "National League of Families of American Prisoners and MIA in Southeast Asia."

Our men are not being given even minimal humane treatment; they are being tortured and underfed. Prisoners of War are guaranteed basic human rights by International Law. Their families have the right to know if they are alive -- and to communicate with them if they are. Write your letter and mail it by December 1.

Salado Faces Tax Hike

SALADO

The Salado Independent School District, which turned down a move to consolidate with Belton schools last year, is faced with a minimum 10 percent tax increase and the sale of land in order to keep the school open. School trustees said in a public meeting last week that the school must raise $25,000 to remain in operation. The tax increase could be as high as 40 percent they said, depending on the amount raised from the sale of school owned property along IH 35. The Salado school tax rate is presently $1.80 per $100 valuation based on 30 percent of actual value. The District has a $3 million assessed valuation.

A Kernel For A Roomful...

A Herald staffer had an interesting experience during a recent presentation on journalism before students in a Central Texas high school. He cast a survey glance back at the history of the printed word, then tried to show the inherent responsibility of modern words on paper.

Some bright students listened intently and resignedly to an adult testing a "generation gap" among newspapers and readers and what might come next.

Some in the class evidenced the bored "insight" of well-read youngsters. It appeared they were going to capture the moment by "turning off."

Words which become clichés, words like "responsibility" in print seem foreign to some in the day of "underground" press and super pornography. "Establishment" seems inane.

So the speaker quoted a world leader of the 1950's and early 1960's, easily considered an exponent of humanitarian, peaceful ideals, asking:

Who said?: "Only he deserves power who every day justifies it."

Several students grinned: "Will Rogers.", implying a 1930's view of newspapers dated by the humorist's famous quote "All I know is what I read in the newspapers."

"No, not Will Rogers."

"Who, then?"

"Dag Hammarskjöld."

Some clever students were chagrined. He was secretary-general of the UN until killed in a plane crash during a mission in Africa.

Silence was deafening, except for counter laughs relieved to know the printed word didn't "go down" with Rogers and Wiley Post in another plane crash in Alaska.

A roomful of people, the speaker included, saw a twinkling of light for a moment, a kernel broken open to ponder.

The 'Poor Farm' Closes ...

Another chapter closes in the book of Milam history, that of the Milam County "Poor Farm".

Residing there are only three people of some 23 there 20 years ago.

The institution has served its purpose. Larger, indeed national institutions like social security and public housing continue.

The more personal attention to poor people staying at county residence is lost. And so is the gross indignity of being buried in a pasture with little more than a sigh of resignation closing the life of a casualty of even a once simple rural society.

Now it is a numbered, perhaps healthier older age for most elderly or disabled. And the anonymity continues in a more modern environment.

But even this condition is superior to conditions as they existed in the latter years of Milam County "Poor Farm." We recall a group of Cameron citizens in the mid-'50's who appealed to the Milam Commissioners Court for improvement of conditions there. Nothing much changed.

Alternatives for the disadvantaged were not as numerous. Perhaps they are too numerous now. The individual is remote these days among our numbers.

It is likely hundreds since the County Farm was established in 1883 received some care otherwise unavailable. If people were not cared for by their families, they had little care 75 years ago.

It was part of the frontier society. People were harder and accepted it. But that doesn't mean they liked it.

Those few moving to locations in the Cameron Housing Authority will be better off. They will, no doubt, miss the personal attention of people like the Cryers.

Things like decent burials began with them. The Milam "Poor Farm" served too long.

All-Aluminum Ship... Alcoa Launches Seaprobe

STURGEON BAY, Wis. Alcoa Seaprobe, the most advanced deep-ocean search and recovery vessel ever constructed, was launched here and hailed as a major future vehicle in man's effort to unveil the secrets of the sea.

The 243-foot all-aluminum vessel will be operated by Ocean Search, Inc., an oceanographic venture of Aluminum Company of America and Ocean Science and Engineering, Inc. The ship has been under construction here at Peterson Builders, Inc. since February, and will remain at the yard until fitting out is completed next August.

Mrs. William C. Woodward of Pittsburgh, Pa., wife of Alcoa Vice President William C. Woodward, christened the ship. Their daughter, Miss Cynthia Woodward, of New York City, served as Maid of Honor. Woodward is President of Ocean Search, Inc., and an OSE director.

Honored guest was Rear Admiral O. D. Waters, Jr., Advisor, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Others participating in the program were Willard Bascom, OSE's chairman and president, and Dr. Eric A. Walker, Alcoa's vice president-science and technology.

Alcoa Seaprobe will be available for priority emergency operations, such as assisting in the search and recovery of missing submarines or other objects lost at sea.

Other missions could include deep-sea recovery work, deep-ocean archeological projects, and proprietary undersea geological explorations for new mineral resources.

The ship will be capable of recovering 200-ton payloads from 6000-foot depths.

It will possess the ability to hold its position in rough seas; search, core, and sample mineral deposits on the sea floor; locate and retrieve heavy objects more than a mile beneath the surface; and perform other research and exploratory oceanographic functions.

Construction of the Alcoa Seaprobe is providing a practical "reference manual" of advanced aluminum fabricating techniques that will aid shipbuilders around the world. It represents a unique example of aluminum technology in welding, many of them developed by Alcoa specifically for marine application.

Approximately one million pounds of aluminum will be used in the hull, framing, superstructure and furnishings of the ship.

Alcoa's Dr. Walker said: "Alcoa is proud to be associated in this venture with Willard Bascom and his associates at Ocean Science and Engineering. We share with him the conviction that Alcoa Seaprobe will be an important oceanographic tool, enabling us to uncover many new secrets of the seas, and to develop more of their tremendous potential for the betterment of man."

Dr. Walker praised the craftsmen at Peterson Builders and said the "ship will truly be a monument to their skills."

The ship will have a 20-man crew and accommodate a scientific party of 30. It will have a speed of 10 knots and will be powered by two 800 kw diesel-electric generators. Her propulsion system will be two vertical axis cycloidal propellers.

DEER HUNTING 50 YEARS AGO - This 4-point buck was killed in Burnet County 50 years ago. This particular hunting party consisted of three people — the boy shown in the picture, his father, and grown brother. They traveled about 20 miles west of the town of Burnet in a covered wagon. The first night, camp was made in a deep canyon in near-freezing weather. The next morning the father and older brother took off deer hunting, leaving the youngster in camp and warned him not to stray very far from the wagon. Since a fourth person was to join the party there was an extra rifle, a Winchester 38-56 in the wagon. Sometime during the morning the youngster saw this buck standing in the edge of the woods not too far away. Climbing up into the wagon he got the rifle and getting down, crawled to a rock and laying the rifle on the rock took dead aim and dropped the buck. Of course it was a few minutes until the smoke cleared away (black powder) before the kid was sure he killed the deer. Needless to say the boy was about the proudest kid in the country. The boy, George Jones, Cameron Herald ad man. The lady in the picture is his grandmother.

Doors of Yoe 1970

By John Bea Sutter

Congratulations to the Fighting Cameron Yoemen on their last minute win over Round Rock. The Eagles had the Yoemen down 14-0 for three quarters of play, but showing the courage and determination of the great team they are, the Yoemen won out in the finish.

As a testimony generated by that last quarter Friday night of Cameron's final game, I can't recall my body trying to freeze up on me as it had the rest of the game. Let me tell you, it was COLD on November 13, in Round Rock, Texas.

It was cold enough for football players on the sidelines to borrow blankets from the pep squad and band to keep warm.

And lined up behind the goal before the half, the Band had only their uniforms and thoughts of a warm home to return to after the game to keep them warm.

A couple of weeks ago, if you wanted to buy some great tasting candy, the place to go would have been Yoe High. The American Heritage Club began its annual candy sales then and sales really went well. In fact, all candy has already been sold out.

The club will reorder soon. Unfortunately for the community most of the candy sold within the school complex itself. During free periods many would be munching away on their American Heritage chocolate bars and quite often a class would pool its money and split a box or bar before the period began.

It will all show up in the end on the scales.

Those Protein Foods Take 40% Of Family Grocery Budgets

By Christine Laws Co. Home Demonstration Agent

Protein foods, usually the most expensive of the four food groups, account for about 40 percent of the food dollar spent. With wise planning, however, you can buy tasty protein foods at budget prices.

Depending on your choice and amount of bone in the meat cut, a three-ounce serving of cooked, lean meat may vary in cost from as little as 14 cents to as much as 69 cents.

Fresh, frozen, or canned meats, poultry, and fish have top-quality protein. By combining meat with dry beans or peas, you may be able to reduce the amount of food dollar spent for these foods.

For general health and growth, you should provide each member of your family with at least four to six ounces of edible protein food daily.

Now is the best time of year to enjoy apples. Apples must be mature when picked to have good flavor, texture, and storing ability. Look for firm, crisp, well-colored fruit, and choose according to the use in mind.

Apples range from sweet to tart flavors. Some are best when eaten out-of-hand or sliced and diced for salads, sandwiches and desserts. Other all-purpose apples may be cooked, baked, stewed, scalloped, fried or roasted. Basically these are the two types marketed - eating apples and cooking apples. Red or Golden Delicious apples are best when served raw. Their delicate flavor is lost when cooked.

Apples that are good cooked or raw include McIntosh, Jonathan and Rome Beauty. Rome Beauty apples are also exceptionally good for baking. Once bought, apples should be stored in the vegetable crisper of the refrigerator and used in two to three weeks. Every day apples are kept at room temperature, their storage life is decreased by more than a week.

Whether served raw or cooked, these hints ensure a tasty apple treat. Always wash apples before using.

Peel just before serving or cooking. If allowed to stand, browning occurs unless the fruit is sprinkled with lemon, orange or pineapple juice, or a commercial anti-darkening agent.

Use sugar in small amounts when cooking apples to bring out flavor - not mask it.

To keep apples whole, add sugar at the beginning when cooking. For making sauce, add sugar at the end of cooking.

Teachers Draft Code Of Ethics, Standards

AUSTIN - The Texas Teachers Professional Practices Commission prepared the final draft of this state's first "Code of Ethics and Standard Practices" in Austin Saturday.

The final draft will incorporate suggestions made by public school administrators and teachers resulting from a series of local meetings held throughout the state during the last several months.

A tentative draft of the suggested code was prepared last summer, then distributed to the educators through their professional organizations.

Each certificated man and woman now working in Texas schools will be able to vote on this final draft during a statewide referendum to be held in February, 1971. Results of the referendum will be tabulated by late March.

The 15-member commission will meet in April to adopt the code which will then be filed with Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education, no later than June 1. It will become effective September 1, 1971.

Dr. John W. McFarland, University of Texas at El Paso dean of education, is commission chairman. Claude A. Hearn, Jr., Randolph Air Force Base ISD superintendent, is vice-chairman.

Budget-Minded? Turn Towels Into Toys

TOYS WITH BOY APPEAL—Easy-to-make toys from colorful cotton terry towels and wash cloths include a bright red locomotive, complete with cowcatcher, and a jaunty boat that sails under the name of S.S. Wash Cloth. The locomotive is made from a hand towel and a group of Cannon wash cloths. The boat, fashioned from seven wash cloths, also makes a good gag gift for grown-up boatmen.

Inexpensive toys with loads of appeal can be made in minutes from colorful cotton terry towels and wash cloths.

Fun and easy to make, the toys are formed by rolling and stitching the towels and wash cloths. Trims can be made from scraps in the sewing basket.

For starters, try Perry Penguin—complete with perky expression and formal attire. He's fashioned from two white bath towels and three black fingertip guest towels. Scraps of cotton velvet, corduroy, or felt can be used for his feet, eyes, bill, and necktie.

Sailor-minded youngsters will welcome the S.S. Wash Cloth to their fleet of toys. It's a jaunty ship made from blue and white wash cloths, trimmed with curtain rings, ribbon, and small flags.

Another towel toy with boy appeal is a big red locomotive complete with cab, cylinders, and cowcatcher. It's made from a hand towel and eight wash cloths. An empty spool serves as the smokestack, and cardboard is shaped into a cowcatcher.

For detailed instructions, send ten cents to Cannon Homemaking Service, P. O. Drawer 107, Kannapolis, N. C. 28081.

PENGUIN PAL—Little girls (and coeds, too) will take to Perry, the terry penguin. He's made from two cotton bath towels and three wash cloths. Cannon Homemaking Service points out that the towels are not cut and can be unraveled for later use in the bath.

For detailed instructions, send ten cents to Cannon Homemaking Service, P. O. Drawer 107, Kannapolis, N. C. 28081.

Proposal Asks Change In Medicare Requirements

Texas hospitals which have faced possible loss of Medicare certification due to the scarcity of registered nurses may have additional time to solve their problems if tentative approval by the Senate Finance Committee of a relief-granting proposal is accepted by both House of Congress.

The office of Cong. J. J. Pickle of Austin advised the Texas Hospital Association in Austin that tentative approval of legislation introduced by Pickle and U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, is the first step to help many of the smaller hospitals of Texas which need more registered nurses to meet current medicare requirements.

Similar legislation had also been introduced by U. S. Senator

John Tower and Congressman Omar Burleson of Texas.

The amendment, which would change medicare hospital requirements, would authorize the Secretary of Health - Education - Welfare to waive the requirement calling for Registered Nurses to be on duty 24 hours per day in hospitals providing service to medicare patients.

The requirement for 24-hour Registered Nurse coverage could be waived annually for one year at a time until January 1, 1975. The amendment would affect approximately 140 Texas hospitals. Hospitals would be required annually to:

1. Demonstrate they have made an effort to recruit Registered Nurses needed for around the clock coverage.

2. Show that there is a shortage of Registered Nurses in the geographic area served by the hospital.

3. Show that there is no other Medicare certified hospital in the immediate area or nearby. In waiving the 24-hour requirement the hospital will still be required to have Registered Nurses on duty during daytime working hours.

O. Ray Hurst, executive vice president of the Texas Hospital Association said "Hospital Administrators recognized in 1964, that registered nurses would be in short supply if medicare requirements were to be met. To meet the need, the association organized the Texas Health Careers Program to interest young people pursuing careers in the health field. Since 1965 full time members of the Association's staff have encouraged Texas young people to explore health career interests. In 1969-70 over 220,000 young people were contacted."

"The Health Careers Program has helped to increase nursing school enrollment since 1965 when more than 50% of the student nurse chairs were vacant. Not only has enrollment increased, but a number of new schools of nursing have opened, and existing nurse programs have increased their student capacity.

"Although nursing schools have increased, the Texas schools of nursing are unable to meet the continued demand for trained registered nurses. In a survey conducted by THA in 1969 over 2500 budgeted nurse positions were vacant. In the Spring of this year over 1000 nurses were graduated; yet in June of this year, 2100 registered nurse positions remain unfilled in Texas.

The most critical registered nurse vacancies exist in the sparsely populated counties of the state and it is in these areas where hospitals are more likely to have difficulty meeting Medicare nurse requirements."

BUSINESS REVIEW

Anderson's Offers High Quality, Expert Service

Selling the best products backed by an experienced and skilled service department, Anderson's displays confidence in the economy of Cameron and the surrounding area.

"We're not afraid to keep our stock complete," Mrs. Anderson says, and the wide array of appliances, television sets, air conditioners, and other quality merchandise on display in the store proves her statement.

Anderson's is the franchise dealer for Friedrich and Chrysler air conditioners; Maytag and General Electric appliances; and RCA television sets. They also stock Zenith products and other famous name brands.

Their stock includes, besides numerous household appliances, a complete line of home and auto tape players, stereo 8 track tapes, gas and electric heaters, water coolers, small appliances, radios, and the latest models in beautiful color TVs.

Anderson's service department is one of the most important aspects of their business.

"Our customers buy here because they know they can get it serviced," Mrs. Anderson says. Heading the service department is owner Joe Anderson, with Bill Baggerly who is a skilled TV technician, and Manuel Mendoza, "the all-round serviceman."

They keep up to date on each new model that comes out by attending service schools held by manufacturers, and they are also kept well-informed by bulletins sent out by the various manufacturers.

Before opening their television shop in 1952, the Andersons had a Jeep business. Mr. Anderson decided to go into the television business after trying in vain to get a home set serviced.

Chamberlain's Custom Processing Means Fine Meat

Meeting regulations more stringent than those imposed on a restaurant or grocery store, Chamberlain's Meat Co. at 1200 East Gillis St. offers customers assurance of the highest quality in their services and products. The custom slaughtering and processing plant is the only one in Cameron inspected and passed under terms of the Wholesome Meat Law, new State-Federal law that is now in effect.

Tommy Chamberlain, owner, explains that an inspector comes to the plant each day, and inspects animals before and after they are slaughtered, and checks the cleanliness of the plant.

The combined experience of the Chamberlain staff, which includes Tommy Chamberlain and his wife, totals 30 years. Some of his workers have been with him since he bought the plant six years ago.

Mr. Chamberlain's experience in the cattle business, which includes operating a feedlot for the past eight years, enables him to choose the finest animals for his customers. He keeps a variety of cattle on hand in his feedlot and is able to supply his customers with the desired meat choice.

Beef for the home freezer is available by the quarter, half, or whole carcass - cut according to customer's specifications, wrapped, and frozen.

"Buying beef in quantity offers customers savings of 15 to 20 percent over retail prices," Chamberlain says, "and the convenience of having a wide variety of meat on hand at all times is important to the housewife."

Also important to the housewife is the fact that Chamberlain's "inter-leaves" steaks - that is, special paper is placed between layers of meat. This means more ease in separating the steaks to facilitate defrosting.

"We also still double-wrap our meat, which isn't done by many plants now because of the expense," Chamberlain added. The double wrap protects the meat's quality and freshness while frozen.

Custom slaughtering and processing means just that - advice is available if needed on the best way to cut the meat, but customers can specify exactly what they want, and satisfaction is guaranteed.

Proof of Chamberlain customers' satisfaction is found in the growth of the business over the years, and in the customers who keep coming back.

With F.M.L.

We live in an eclectic world. Eclectic means "selecting from different systems or sources". The November elections show it. Women's fashions show it.

The composition of our people shows it. Changing attitudes in social, religious and economic areas show it.

The Greek and Judaic worlds reside in Christianity, out of the Middle East, which came of age among the Romans.

Our people are from every race, nationality, section of the earth. Our states are influenced by Eskimos in Alaska, Polynesians in Hawaii, Japanese and Chinese in California, English and French in New England, Dutch, Jewish, Italian and Irish in New York, Polish, Hungarian, German in Chicago, Indians in Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico, Mexican in Texas, Negro and Cajon in Louisiana, and infinitum. All are American.

NOW-NOW-NOW

Our Constitution allows freedom to believe or not to believe, encourages responsibility, promotes individualism, protects groups, federates states and protects states rights, frees slaves, prohibits drink and makes it wet, ad infinitum.

We are good and evil congregated, one group's good something of another's evil, or vice versa, a systematized, eclectic (there's that word again) gathering of saints, sinners and the multitude in between.

We await skirts to come down and see women choose pants suits; we see minis stay because men like them (and many women do too), the midi for the uncertain and the maxi for those wishing to follow the haute culture of Paris.

We listen to cries of alarm over economics, law and order, inflation and, in effect, thumb noses at political candidates by going Democratic at state level and admiring in the Senate, even introducing a couple of independents in shifting tides.

We like traditions better than we thought, but some of these we acknowledge the kids are right about; the times are different. The young generation may have the responsibilities sooner than the older generation, and the older ones may well be happy to unload them.

We are sophisticating in curiously simplistic ways: we learn there is no evil in wearing different styles of clothes and there is integrity in trying to reach one's own conclusions, despite the pressures of peers to go this way and that.

We acknowledge women's lib has merit, if its advocates recognize what they lose in what they gain. We acknowledge that reform is important in people like Ralph Nader, who systematically proves his point. We reject rebellion in the streets and long hair, until it becomes fashionable. Crew cuts 40 years ago were suspect.

Youngsters like pinstripe suits, wide lapels double breasted until somebody might say pinstripes were in style a generation ago. Middle-agers reject hippy colors and loose clothes, but wear wide ties, sideburns and fringed leather jackets.

We are eclectic; let's face it. And it isn't so bad.

We are borrowing and testing, improvising and refining, streamlining and applying ingenuity. We are Yankee-Rebel-hip-squares growing up.

NOW THANKS...

County Loses 'Head Start' OEO Program

Head Start, a program to prepare pre-school children for classroom work, failed to receive OEO funding this year, apparently because the county does not have an OEO Community Action program. It is the second OEO program cut in the county this year.

D. R. Dodson, superintendent of Cameron schools and administrator of the program last year, said Cameron had received funds for Head Start in the past through a Community Action program at Georgetown. Last summer the local school had four units of Head Start. This year Dodson said funding was cut to one unit, not enough to merit continuing the program.

Earlier, Milam County lost the Emergency Food program which provided supplemental food and health care through the Surplus Commodities office. County Judge O. B. Harden said this was discontinued as of December 1 because the county was not participating in a Community Action program.

Judge Harden said individuals in the county had looked into the possibilities of joining with the Robertson County Community Action group last year in connection with opening a Day Care Center here. Robertson County Community Action officials were not able to extend their program to Milam County at that time.

Judge Harden said most of the Community Action groups were started in 1964 and 1965 and no new groups were being approved by OEO at this time.

Head Start programs had been operated in Gause Branchville and Cameron in recent years. The Branchville and Gause units were incorporated into the Cameron schools last year.

Local Project Asks Letters To Aid POW's

COMMUNITY SERVICE FOR THANKSGIVING SET HERE

A community-wide Thanksgiving service will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the Cameron Gospel Tabernacle. Rev. Robert Bunn, pastor of the Battentown Baptist Church, will deliver the sermon. Congregational singing will be led by Alan Fyke, music director of First Baptist Church.

Special music this year will be provided by Tim Wallace, Yoe High School student, at the piano.

The annual community service is sponsored by the Cameron Ministerial Alliance.

YHS Honor Society Joins National Effort

By John Ben Sutter

Over 1,500 American men are missing in Southeast Asia. The families of these men are in distress. Would you be willing to help?

The C. H. Yoe High School Chapter of the National Honor Society has taken as a project to inform people in Cameron about the inhumane treatment of POW's. Members of the organization will be speaking about this worthy project to local clubs and organizations.

Many Americans do not realize that the North Vietnamese government is very "opinion-conscious" and that it wants the rest of the world to have a favorable opinion of it.

The North Vietnamese believe that a POW is a dishonored person, not worthy of recognition. They cannot believe that the U. S. is concerned about the fate and inhumane treatment of "only 1,500 men." We can do much to convince the North Vietnamese government that we do care about these men by simply writing a letter to Mr. Xuan Thuy at the North Vietnamese Embassy in Paris, France.

The wives, children and parents of missing men do not even know if they are alive or dead since the government of North Vietnam has never officially released a complete list of men it holds prisoner.

The Geneva Convention, which North Vietnam signed, clearly specifies that all prisoners will be completely identified, that all sick and injured prisoners will be immediately released, that POW camps will be impartially inspected, and that POW's should be allowed to write not less than six cards and letters per month. The North Vietnamese refuse to honor any of these provisions.

You can help prove to the North Vietnamese that any American's well being is the concern of all of us by spending a few minutes of your time to write a letter demanding that they:

1. Identify all POW's they hold.
2. Release all sick and injured POW's to a neutral power.
3. Allow impartial inspections of POW facilities.
4. Allow free exchange of mail by POW's and members of their families.

Your letter should be addressed on the inside to:

Deer Plentiful In South Milam

South Milam County was active with hunters again this weekend and deer were reported to be plentiful in the area around Milam. Dale Moore, Game Warden, said most of the hunters were from out-of-county, particularly from Houston.

Moore said the largest kill he had checked last week was an 8 point buck that dressed at about 110 pounds. It was taken east of Milam. He said the cool weather favored hunters, but high winds on the opening weekend had kept the deer undercover.

Friendship Church To See 66th Thanksgiving

This year will mark the 66th observance of a special Thanksgiving tradition in the community of Friendship. At 11 a.m. Thanksgiving Day, services will be held in the Methodist Church followed by dinner on the grounds.

Church members who have gone out from Friendship, their children, grandchildren, and their great grandchildren, come from all over the country for the special day.

What calls them back?
Mrs. Ross McQuary, who has written a history of the church, says they come "for the memories and atmosphere of friendship and love that has always existed in the Friendship Methodist Church."

Those memories go back 100 years, when the church began a log school house in a small community known as Friendship. Mrs. McQuary tells the story: Friendship was thinly settled by God-fearing pioneers, who desired a place to worship. So the log school house, on a road barely larger than a cow trail was chosen. It was about five miles from Davilla.

Circuit riders and itinerant preachers came, riding many miles in cold and heat, rain and dust, to bring spiritual food for the pioneers, who would come many miles -- walking, on horse back or wagon, and some even by the oxen they were working.

When more settlers came in, and more members were added, they felt secure enough to build their first church. It wasn't completed, but it did have an "amen" corner, so when the preacher said something unusually good, the older men who sat in the corner would say "amen!"

Over 60 years ago, the church was finished, very proud of its cost of paint, and stayed that way until 1922.

Rarely in those days did members attend other churches, not from lack of interest, but because of the distance and mode of travel. The Elder came to Buckholts by train, and was met by a member in a buggy. He stayed two days, preached several times, held conference, and too time to talk to the people. The early pastors were spiritual men, most of whom had not finished what is now grade school.

The land for the church, and for the adjoining cemetery was donated by Uncle Red Graham, as he was called by everyone.

Salado Faces Tax Hike

SALADO

The Salado Independent School District, which turned down a move to consolidate with Belton schools last year, is faced with a minimum 10 percent tax increase and the sale of land in order to keep the school open. School trustees said in a public meeting last week that the school must raise $25,000 to remain in operation. The tax increase could be as high as 40 percent they said, depending on the amount raised from the sale of school owned property along IH 35. The Salado school tax rate is presently $1.80 per $100 valuation based on 30 percent of actual value. The District has a $3 million assessed valuation.

All-Aluminum Ship... Alcoa Launches Seaprobe

STURGEON BAY, Wis. Alcoa Seaprobe, the most advanced deep-ocean search and recovery vessel ever constructed, was launched here and hailed as a major future vehicle in man's effort to unveil the secrets of the sea.

The 243-foot all-aluminum vessel will be operated by Ocean Search, Inc., an oceanographic venture of Aluminum Company of America and Ocean Science and Engineering, Inc. The ship has been under construction here at Peterson Builders, Inc. since February, and will remain at the yard until fitting out is completed next August.

Mrs. William C. Woodward of Pittsburgh, Pa., wife of Alcoa Vice President William C. Woodward, christened the ship. Their daughter, Miss Cynthia Woodward, of New York City, served as Maid of Honor. Woodward is President of Ocean Search, Inc., and an OSE director.

Honored guest was Rear Admiral O. D. Waters, Jr., Advisor, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration. Others participating in the program were Willard Bascom, OSE's chairman and president, and Dr. Eric A. Walker, Alcoa's vice president-science and technology.

Alcoa Seaprobe will be available for priority emergency operations, such as assisting in the search and recovery of missing submarines or other objects lost at sea.

Other missions could include deep-sea recovery work, deep-ocean archeological projects, and proprietary undersea geological explorations for new mineral resources.

The ship will be capable of recovering 200-ton payloads from 6000-foot depths.

It will possess the ability to hold its position in rough seas; search, core, and sample mineral deposits on the sea floor; locate and retrieve heavy objects more than a mile beneath the surface; and perform other research and exploratory oceanographic functions.

Construction of the Alcoa Seaprobe is providing a practical "reference manual" of advanced aluminum fabricating techniques that will aid shipbuilders around the world. It represents a unique example of aluminum technology in welding, many of them developed by Alcoa specifically for marine application.

Approximately one million pounds of aluminum will be used in the hull, framing, superstructure and furnishings of the ship.

Alcoa's Dr. Walker said: "Alcoa is proud to be associated in this venture with Willard Bascom and his associates at Ocean Science and Engineering. We share with him the conviction that Alcoa Seaprobe will be an important oceanographic tool, enabling us to uncover many new secrets of the seas, and to develop more of their tremendous potential for the betterment of man."

Dr. Walker praised the craftsmen at Peterson Builders and said the "ship will truly be a monument to their skills."

The ship will have a 20-man crew and accommodate a scientific party of 30. It will have a speed of 10 knots and will be powered by two 800 kw diesel-electric generators. Her propulsion system will be two vertical axis cycloidal propellers.

A Kernel For A Roomful...

A Herald staffer had an interesting experience during a recent presentation on journalism before students in a Central Texas high school.

He cast a survey glance back at the history of the printed word, then tried to show the inherent responsibility of modern words on paper.

Some bright students listened intently and resignedly to an adult testing a "generation gap" among newspapers and readers and what might come next.

Some in the class evidenced the bored "insight" of well-read youngsters. It appeared they were going to capture the moment by "turning off."

Words which become cliches, words like "responsibility" in print seem foreign to some in the day of "underground" press and super pornography. "Establishment" seems inane.

So the speaker quoted a world leader of the 1950's and early 1960's, easily considered an exponent of humanitarian, peaceful ideals, asking:

Who said?: "Only he deserves power who every day justifies it."

Several students grinned: "Will Rogers.", implying a 1930's view of newspapers dated by the humorist's famous quote "All I know is what I read in the newspapers."

"No, not Will Rogers."

"Who, then?"

"Dag Hammarskjold."

Some clever students were chagrined. He was secretary-general of the UN until killed in a plane crash during a mission in Africa.

Silence was deafening, except for counter laughter relieved to know the printed word didn't "go down" with Rogers and Wiley Post in another plane crash in Alaska.

A roomful of people, the speaker included, saw a twinkling of light for a moment, a kernel broken open to ponder.

CAMERON'S PARADE OF SPORTS

DEER HUNTING 50 YEARS AGO - This 4-point buck was killed in Burnet County 50 years ago. This particular hunting party consisted of three people - the boy shown in the picture, his father, and grown brother. They traveled about 20 miles west of the town of Burnet in a covered wagon. The first night, camp was made in a deep canyon in near-freezing weather. The next morning the father and older brother took off deer hunting, leaving the youngster in camp and warned him not to stray very far from the wagon. Since a fourth person was to join the party there was an extra rifle, a Winchester 38-56 in the wagon. Sometime during the morning the youngster saw this buck standing in the edge of the woods not too far away. Climbing up into the wagon he got the rifle and getting down, crawled to a rock and laying the rifle on the rock took dead aim and dropped the buck. Of course it was a few minutes until the smoke cleared away (black powder) before the kid was sure he killed the deer. Needless to say the boy was about the proudest kid in the country. The boy, George Jones, Cameron Herald ad man. The lady in the picture is his grandmother.

The 'Poor Farm' Closes ...

Another chapter closes in the book of Milam history, that of the Milam County "Poor Farm".

Residing there are only three people of some 23 there 20 years ago.

The institution has served its purpose. Larger, indeed national institutions like social security and public housing continue.

The more personal attention to poor people staying at county residence is lost. And so is the gross indignity of being buried in a pasture with little more than a sigh of resignation closing the life of a casualty of even a once simple rural society.

Now it is a numbered, perhaps healthier older age for most elderly or disabled. And the anonymity continues in a more modern environment.

But even this condition is superior to conditions as they existed in the latter years of Milam County "Poor Farm." We recall a group of Cameron citizens in the mid-'50's who appealed to the Milam Commissioners Court for improvement of conditions there. Nothing much changed.

Alternatives for the disadvantaged were not as numerous. Perhaps they are too numerous now. The individual is remote these days among our numbers.

It is likely hundreds since the County Farm was established in 1883 received some care otherwise unavailable. If people were not cared for by their families, they had little care 75 years ago.

It was part of the frontier society. People were harder and accepted it. But that doesn't mean they liked it.

Those few moving to locations in the Cameron Housing Authority will be better off. They will, no doubt, miss the personal attention of people like the Cryers.

Things like decent burials began with them. The Milam "Poor Farm" served too long.

Badgerettes Divide Two With Rogers

The Buckholts Badgerettes A and B teams divided two games with the Rogers A and B teams Monday night in Badger Gym.

The B team game was won by Rogers 32-14. High point honors for Buckholts went to La Nell Allison with 10. Marcia Barge-meyer added the other 4 points.

High pointer for Rogers was Donna Ashcraft and Beatrice Brenek who had 12 points each. The Badgerettes A team topped the Rogers A team by a score of 39-37. Becky Beckhusen had 22 points for the Badgerettes. Added to her scoring was Martha Vacu-lin with 12 and Debra McNeill with 5.

High pointer for Rogers was Celeste Wilde with 24.

The A team now stands 5-1 in the season while the B team is 2-4.

When winding new line on your reel, add it to the spool as it comes off the original spool and it will work better.

No wonder termites are so numerous. A queen will lay 60 eggs per minute or something like 80,000 in a single day.

Doors of Yoe 1970

By John Ben Sutter

Congratulations to the Fighting Cameron Yoemen on their last minute win over Round Rock. The Eagles had the Yoemen down 14-0 for three quarters of play, but showing the courage and determination of the great team they are, the Yoemen won out in the finish.

As a testimony generated by that last quarter Friday night of Cameron's final game, I can't recall my body trying to freeze up on me as it had the rest of the game. Let me tell you, it was COLD on November 13, in Round Rock, Texas.

It was cold enough for football players on the sidelines to borrow blankets from the pep squad and band to keep warm.

And lined up behind the goal before the half, the Band had only their uniforms and thoughts of a warm home to return to after the game to keep them warm.

And pity the poor twirlers... they had only the thoughts of home to keep them warm, the protection of their uniforms really not worth mentioning.

(Personal Mention: Jim Delony, if all else fails, try taping your tube to your body with scotch tape before you perform again.)

A couple of weeks ago, if you wanted to buy some great tasting candy, the place to go would have been Yoe High. The American Heritage Club began its annual candy sales then and sales really went well. In fact, all candy has already been sold out.

The club will reorder soon. Unfortunately for the community most of the candy sold within the school complex itself. During free periods many would be munching away on their American Heritage chocolate bars and quite often a class would pool its money and split a box or bar before the period began.

It will all show up in the end on the scales.

The National Honor Society of Yoe High is sponsoring a letter writing campaign to the Hanoi government, asking for humane treatment for the over 1500 Americans imprisoned there.

Under the counsel of Mrs. Emma McDermott, school librarian, the NHS has prepared presentations concerning the plight of captured American prisoners in North Vietnam and the letter writing campaign itself.

The presentation will be given to local community organizations by NHS members. If you are interested in participating in this very worthy project and by chance don't see the NHS program, check the front page of this edition of the Herald for information.

The faculty committee for the National Honor Society elected new members for the NHS and they are: Jennifer Kostroun, Carolyn Matula, and John Coleman, seniors; Cindy Bornfield, Diane Bryant, Nina Mae Green, Linda Vrazel, and Laurence Zolt, juniors; and Randy Tumlinson and Alva Ray Mullinax, sophomores. They will be installed at the annual NHS banquet.

Arts Club Host Special Ed Party

Arts and Service League members were hosts for a Thanksgiving party for children in Special Education classes of the Cameron schools Thursday afternoon.

The party, complete with songs, cake and gifts, was in the Special Education house on the Yoe High campus.

Mrs. Don Humble and Mrs. Edward Schiller were in charge of party arrangements.

Teachers Draft Code Of Ethics, Standards

AUSTIN — The Texas Teachers' Professional Practices Commission prepared the final draft of this state's first "Code of Ethics and Standard Practices" in Austin Saturday.

The final draft will incorporate suggestions made by public school administrators and teachers resulting from a series of local meetings held throughout the state during the last several months.

A tentative draft of the suggested code was prepared last summer, then distributed to the educators through their professional organizations.

Each certificated man and woman now working in Texas schools will be able to vote on this final draft during a statewide referendum to be held in February, 1971. Results of the referendum will be tabulated by late March.

The 15-member commission will meet in April to adopt the code which will then be filed with Dr. J. W. Edgar, commissioner of education, no later than June 1. It will become effective September 1, 1971.

Dr. John W. McFarland, University of Texas at El Paso dean of education, is commission chairman. Claude A. Hearn, Jr., Randolph Air Force Base ISD superintendent, is vice-chairman.

Those Protein Foods Take 40% Of Family Grocery Budgets

By Christine Laws Co. Home Demonstration Agent

Protein foods, usually the most expensive of the four food groups, account for about 40 percent of the food dollar spent. With wise planning, however, you can buy tasty protein foods at budget prices.

Depending on your choice and amount of bone in the meat cut, a three-ounce serving of cooked, lean meat may vary in cost from as little as 14 cents to as much as 69 cents.

Fresh, frozen, or canned meats, poultry, and fish have top-quality protein. By combining meat with dry beans or peas, you may be able to reduce the amount of food dollar spent for these foods.

For general health and growth, you should provide each member of your family with at least four to six ounces of edible protein food daily.

Now is the best time of year to enjoy apples. Apples must be mature when picked to have good flavor, texture, and storing ability. Look for firm, crisp, well-colored fruit, and choose according to the use in mind.

Apples range from sweet to tart flavors. Some are best when eaten out-of-hand or sliced and diced for salads, sandwiches and desserts. Other all-purpose apples may be cooked, baked, stewed, scalloped, fried or roasted. Basically these are the two types marketed — eating apples and cooking apples. Red or Golden Delicious apples are best when served raw. Their delicate flavor is lost when cooked.

Apples that are good cooked or raw include McIntosh, Jonathan and Rome Beauty. Rome Beauty apples are also exceptionally good for baking. Once bought, apples should be stored in the vegetable crisper of the refrigerator and used in two to three weeks. Every day apples kept at room temperature, their storage life is decreased by more than a week.

Whether served raw or cooked, these hints ensure a tasty apple treat. Always wash apples before using.

Peel just before serving or cooking. If allowed to stand, browning occurs unless the fruit is sprinkled with lemon, orange or pineapple juice, or a commercial anti-darkening agent.

Use sugar in small amounts when cooking apples to bring out flavor — not mask it.

To keep apples whole, add sugar at the beginning when cooking. For making sauce, add sugar at the end of cooking.

Budget-Minded? Turn Towels Into Toys

TOYS WITH BOY APPEAL—Easy-to-make toys from colorful cotton terry towels and wash cloths include a bright red locomotive, complete with cowcatcher, and a jaunty boat that sails under the name of S.S. Wash Cloth. The locomotive is made from a hand towel and a group of Cannon wash cloths. The boat, fashioned from seven wash cloths, also makes a good gag gift for grown-up boatmen.

Inexpensive toys with loads of appeal can be made in minutes from colorful cotton terry towels and wash cloths. Fun and easy to make, the toys are formed by rolling and stitching the towels and wash cloths. Trims can be made from scraps in the sewing basket.

For starters, try Perry Penguin—complete with perky expression and formal attire. He's fashioned from two white bath towels and three black fingertip guest towels. Scraps of cotton velvet, corduroy, or felt can be used for his feet, eyes, bill, and necktie.

Sailor-minded youngsters will welcome the S.S. Wash Cloth to their fleet of toys. It's a jaunty ship made from blue and white wash cloths, trimmed with curtain rings, ribbon, and small flags.

Another towel toy with boy appeal is a big red locomotive complete with cab, cylinders, and cowcatcher. It's made from a hand towel and eight wash cloths. An empty spool serves as the smokestack, and cardboard is shaped into a cowcatcher.

For detailed instructions, send ten cents to Cannon Homemaking Service, P. O. Drawer 107, Kannapolis, N.C. 28081.

PENGUIN PAL—Little girls (and coeds, too) will take to Perry, the terry penguin. He's made from two cotton bath towels and three wash cloths. Cannon Homemaking Service points out that the towels are not cut and can be unrolled for later use in the bath.

Proposal Asks Change In Medicare Requirements

Texas hospitals which have faced possible loss of Medicare certification due to the scarcity of registered nurses may have additional time to solve their problems if tentative approval by the Senate Finance Committee of a relief-granting proposal is accepted by both House of Congress.

The office of Cong. J. J. Pickle of Austin advised the Texas Hospital Association in Austin that tentative approval of legislation introduced by Pickle and U. S.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, is the first step to help many of the smaller hospitals of Texas which need more registered nurses to meet current medicare requirements.

Similar legislation had also been introduced by U. S. Senator

John Tower and Congressman Omar Burleson of Texas.

The amendment, which would change medicare hospital requirements, would authorize the Secretary of Health - Education - Welfare to waive the requirement calling for Registered Nurses to be on duty 24 hours per day in hospitals providing service to medicare patients.

The requirement for 24-hour Registered Nurse coverage could be waived annually for one year at a time until January 1, 1975. The amendment would affect approximately 140 Texas hospitals. Hospitals would be required annually to:

1. Demonstrate they have made an effort to recruit Registered Nurses needed for around the clock coverage.

2. Show that there is a shortage of Registered Nurses in the geographic area served by the hospital.

3. Show that there is no other Medicare certified hospital in the immediate area or nearby. In waiving the 24-hour requirement the hospital will still be required to have Registered Nurses on duty during daytime working hours.

O. Ray Hurst, executive vice president of the Texas Hospital Association said "Hospital Administrators recognized in 1964, that registered nurses would be in short supply if medicare requirements were to be met. To meet the need, the association organized the Texas Health Careers Program to interest young people pursuing careers in the health field. Since 1965 full time members of the Association's staff have encouraged Texas young people to explore health career interests. In 1969-70 over 220,000 young people were contacted."

"The Health Careers Program has helped to increase nursing school enrollment since 1965 when more than 50% of the student nurse chairs were vacant. Not only has enrollment increased, but a number of new schools of nursing have opened, and existing nurse programs have increased their student capacity.

"Although nursing schools have increased, the Texas schools of nursing are unable to meet the continued demand for trained registered nurses. In a survey conducted by THA in 1969 over 2500 budgeted nurse positions were vacant. In the Spring of this year over 1000 nurses were graduated; yet in June of this year, 2100 registered nurse positions remain unfilled in Texas.

The most critical registered nurse vacancies exist in the sparsely populated counties of the state and it is in these areas where hospitals are more likely to have difficulty meeting Medicare nurse requirements."

BUSINESS REVIEW

Anderson's Offers High Quality, Expert Service

Selling the best products backed by an experienced and skilled service department, Anderson's displays confidence in the economy of Cameron and the surrounding area.

"We're not afraid to keep our stock complete," Mrs. Anderson says, and the wide array of appliances, television sets, air conditioners, and other quality merchandise on display in the store proves her statement.

Anderson's is the franchise dealer for Friedrich and Chrysler air conditioners; Maytag and General Electric appliances; and RCA television sets. They also stock Zenith products and other famous name brands.

Their stock includes, besides numerous household appliances, a complete line of home and auto tape players, stereo 8 track tapes, gas and electric heaters, water coolers, small appliances, radios, and the latest models in beautiful color TVs.

Anderson's service department is one of the most important aspects of their business.

"Our customers buy here because they know they can get it serviced," Mrs. Anderson says. Heading the service department is owner Joe Anderson, with Bill Baggerly who is a skilled TV technician, and Manuel Mendoza, "the all-round serviceman."

They keep up to date on each new model that comes out by attending service schools held by manufacturers, and they are also kept well-informed by bulletins sent out by the various manufacturers.

Before opening their television shop in 1952, the Andersons had a Jeep business. Mr. Anderson decided to go into the television business after trying in vain to get a home set serviced.

From there the store expanded to include its present large stock of well-known items.

When the Andersons moved their business location about two and a half years ago, the name was changed from Anderson's TV to Anderson's.

Anderson's is now ready for the Christmas season, and is offering a wide choice of gifts, from low-priced small appliances and radios, to the latest in color TVs and beautiful stereos.

A comfortable seating area is provided for customers in the TV and stereo department, to view television or listen to the tone of radios and stereos.

Chamberlain's Custom Processing Means Fine Meat

Meeting regulations more stringent than those imposed on a restaurant or grocery store, Chamberlain's Meat Co. at 1200 East Gillis St. offers customers assurance of the highest quality in their services and products. The custom slaughtering and processing plant is the only one in Cameron inspected and passed under terms of the Wholesome Meat Law, new State-Federal law that is now in effect.

Tommy Chamberlain, owner, explains that an inspector comes to the plant each day, and inspects animals before and after they are slaughtered, and checks the cleanliness of the plant.

The combined experience of the Chamberlain staff, which includes Tommy Chamberlain and his wife, totals 30 years. Some of his workers have been with him since he bought the plant six years ago.

Mr. Chamberlain's experience in the cattle business, which includes operating a feedlot for the past eight years, enables him to choose the finest animals for his customers. He keeps a variety of cattle on hand in his feedlot and is able to supply his customers with the desired meat choice.

Beef for the home freezer is available by the quarter, half, or whole carcass - cut according to customer's specifications, wrapped, and frozen.

"Buying beef in quantity offers customers savings of 15 to 20 percent over retail prices," Chamberlain says, "and the convenience of having a wide variety of meat on hand at all times is important to the housewife."

Also important to the housewife is the fact that Chamberlain's "inter-leaves" steaks - that is, special paper is placed between layers of meat. This means more ease in separating the steaks to facilitate defrosting.

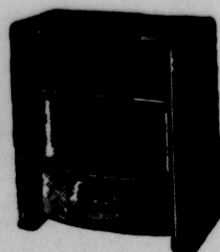

"We also still double-wrap our meat, which isn't done by many plants now because of the expense," Chamberlain added. The double wrap protects the meat's quality and freshness while frozen.

Custom slaughtering and processing means just that - advice is available if needed on the best way to cut the meat, but customers can specify exactly what they want, and satisfaction is guaranteed.

Proof of Chamberlain customers' satisfaction is found in the growth of the business over the years, and in the customers who keep coming back.
